

No Sick Employees Please

We've all been told that we can catch the COVID-19 virus by being in close proximity with someone who's carrying it. So, what should we do when we consider returning to our work place?

Dr. Roussin, the Manitoba Chief Health Officer, suggests employees sign a "No Sick People in the Workforce" form. The form should include:

1. You cannot come to work if you are sick. Even with mild symptoms like a runny nose.
2. If you start to feel sick when at work, you must go home.
3. You must practice social-distancing and stay 2 meters apart.
4. You must frequently wash your hands.

Sounds like a good idea, don't you think?
